

2020 Italian Basketball Tour

Venice

It's got 3 sides bathing in the water and one side cooling down in the mountains. It's got more, way more UN world heritage attractions than any other country in the world. Don't even get us started on the food... And by the way, it's got some pretty good basketball too (ask the n°1 pick in the 2006 NBA draft)!

Are you ready to dribble through history...I mean Italy?

When? August 2020, 8-10 day tour
Who? Any women's or men's college basketball team

• Where? Venice, Florence, Rome (oh, there might be a thing or two in between...)

Florence

Eat and sleep like an Emperor:
X 4-star hotels in exclusive city locations
X Hotel meals and extra meals in bellisssimi authentic restaurants!

→ View our tour itinerary hypothesis on Google My Maps

Rome

This was the view from the hotel in Florence last summer... No, I'm not joking!

But get off the tortellini and PLAY!
• 3-4 games guaranteed
• Competition level: National teams, pro Italian teams, or pro All-Star selections
• Facilities available for practice sessions upon request

Not enough? Just ask!
• Additional excursions
• Cooking classes
• A day at the beach

Tour Manager and Bilingual Interpreter
Nicholas Zinzi

"Our team took a foreign tour to Italy from August 10th-August 20th, 2019. Our trip went very smooth and every one of our 70 person travel party had an experience of a lifetime. Nicholas Zinzi was one of the main contributors to our great experience. He was there night and day for our group and did whatever was needed. He made sure we stayed on schedule and that everything went according to plan. He was in constant communication with me every day to make sure that we were satisfied and was always willing to help with anything and everything. It was a pleasure to work and get to know him. His experience helped make our trip even better. He connected with all of our travel party on a more personal level which made his presence even more important. We are forever grateful for all of Nick's hard work on this trip and couldn't have asked for a better person to work with."
